

SUMMER

From the Barlow cabin deck listen to the sounds of rippling Mineral Creek, while viewing Mt. Hood. Gray Jays may suddenly appear from the depths of the surrounding fir and hemlock forest, to feed from your hand. On clear evenings, watch the alpenglow on the mountain give way to star studded skies, far from city lights.

Barlow and Pioneer rates vary according to week-days, weekend, week, month, season, holidays and services provided.

Barlow rates:

Pioneer rates:

WINTER

Our cabins are located in the Trillium Lake Basin, a major cross-country skier destination. Guests step out of the cabins onto groomed tracks, connected to the most extensive system of cross-country ski trails on Mt. Hood. Snow level averages five feet and may be as high as thirteen. Outstanding views of Mt. Hood dominate the scenery on many of the routes.

TRILLIUM LAKE BASIN CABINS

P.O. Box 28
 Government Camp, Oregon 97028
 (503) 297-5993 or (503) 232-4099
www.trilliumlake.com
 Email: info@trilliumlake.com

MT. HOOD

Trillium Lake Basin Cabins

BARLOW TRAIL CABIN is a modern, innovative, two story "chalet" style cabin with three bedrooms: two are 12' x 18' and the third is 9' x 9'; a bath and a half, 12' x 18' living room; deck; and equipped kitchen. Telephone, electric heat and fireplace stove and wood are furnished. Looking through a 32' wall of windows, one can watch climbers reach the 11,235' Mt. Hood peak and downhill skiers while sitting by a fire. Barlow sleeps 8-10. Bedding and linens are provided. The Barlow Trail Cabin also includes an outdoor cedar sauna that holds 6+ people at a time.

The snow averages 6 feet but sometimes can bury the cabin up to the second floor!

PIONEER CABIN Pioneer Cabin is a two bedroom cabin that gives a sense of peace and pleasure few modern houses provide. It's Great Grandmothers type of living. Food never tasted better than from the wood cookstove. Pioneer style, it's a fun place that people love. Mineral Creek running water sounds, telephone, electricity and wood are furnished. Pioneer sleeps 4-6.

LOOKING FOR SOMETHING TO DO?

- The cabins are at the 3,800' level on the slope of Mt. Hood in Summit Meadow plat and are one and a half miles from Government Camp, Mt. Hood's highest village. They are at the base of Multorpor Mountain (Skibowl East Mountain).
- From the cabin door, hike to the top of Multorpor for the most exquisite view of Mt. Hood and it's U-shaped glacial canyons, Trillium Lake, Mt. Jefferson and the Three Sisters.
- Hike to Skibowl East's summertime alpine slide. Walk or drive to Trillium Lake for swimming, fishing, rafting, sailboating, barbecuing and wildlife watching.
- Take an excursion on the Mt. Hood Railway.

- Drive seven miles to Timberline and take Palmer chairlift for summer downhill skiing. Take the mile chairlift for the most spectacular above Timberline sight-seeing. Allow time for a leisurely guided tour of National Historic Timberline Lodge led by a U.S. Forest Service guide.
- For a historic adventure, follow the pioneer Old Oregon Trail (Barlow Trail) which passes 500 feet from the cabins. Still visible are deeply cut wagon ruts, pioneer names carved on rocks and brow logs.
- All of Mt. Hood's downhill ski areas are within 10 miles. The closest is a mile and a half away.
- Golfing is 14 miles away. Windsurfing on the Columbia River is an hour's drive, as is the Warm Springs Indians famous Kahneeta Resort.
- A base for climbing Mt. Hood and for hiking breathtaking scenic view trails such as the around the mountain trail at Timberline. Ride on a major mountain biking trail which passes close to the cabins.

